FOREWORD

THE memories of high school days grow more precious as time passes. So that in years to come you may be assisted in recalling the many happy events of the school year of nineteen hundred twenty-nine and thirty, we have endeavored to record in this the third volume of THE DYNAMO, all that will suggest high school days.

The all boy class of '30

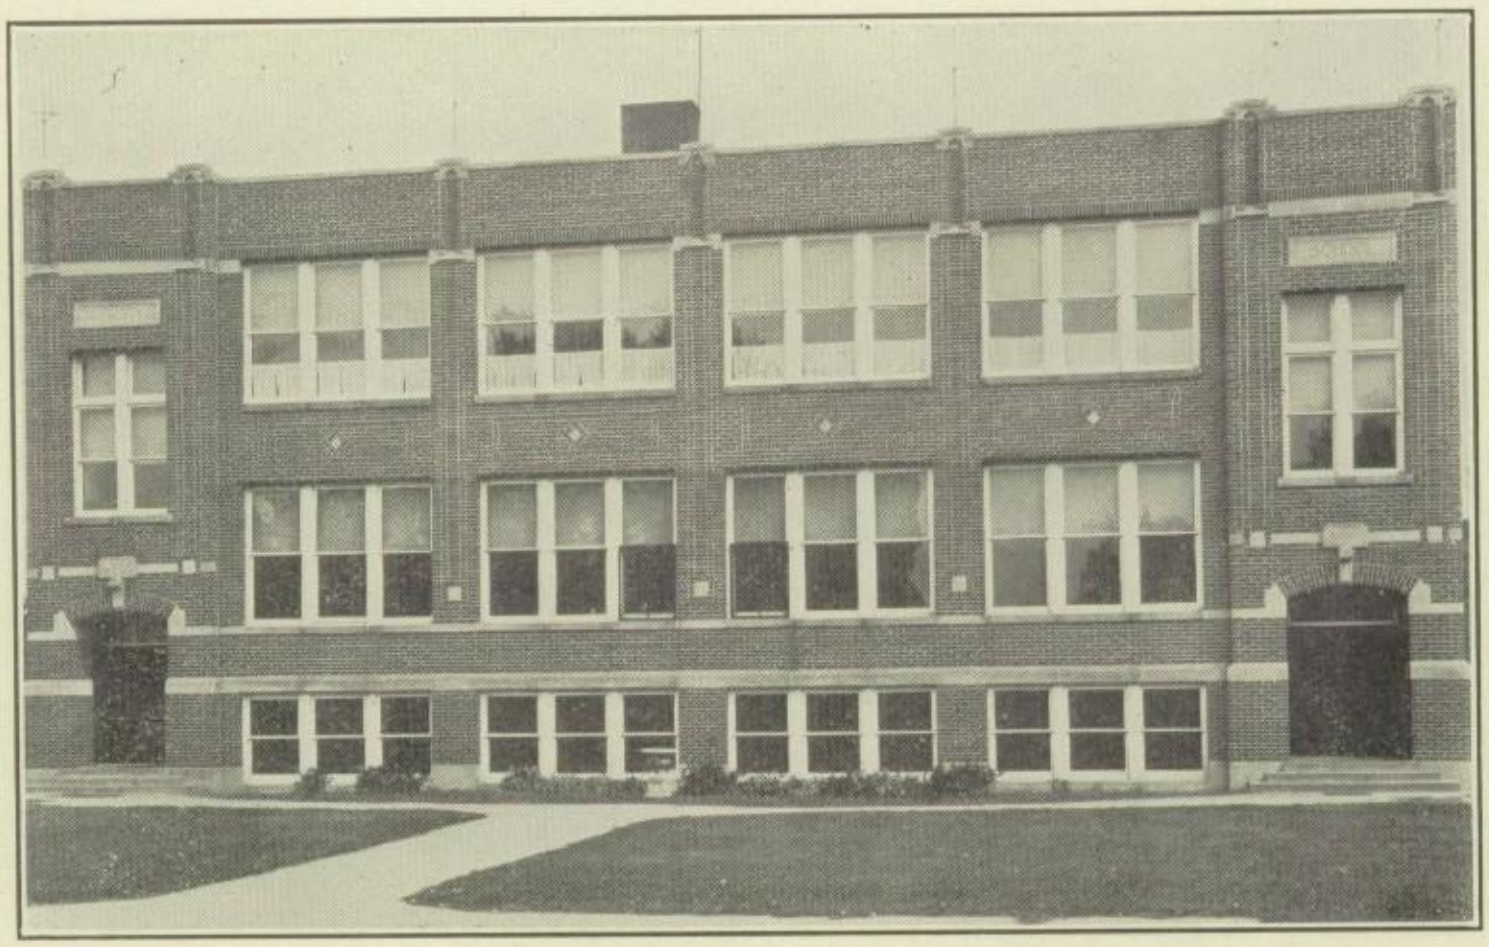
DEDICATES

this volume of the Dynamo to

MISS CINDA HATCHER

in the hope of expressing its appreciation of her never tiring and ceaseless efforts, and whose sympathetic guidance has won for her our admiration and highest esteem.

Learning and knowledge
And association, so dear,
Woven herein together
Form our memories here.



Forming a mantle
Of love and truth
That will guide us
In what we doeth.

DAMASCUS TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS

Thirty years ago there were nine district schools in the township.

The township high school was organized in the fall of 1903, and the upper floor of the building now occupied by the Gem Theater was the opening place of the school. Mr. Jacob Love, now of Clyde, Ohio, conducted an entrance examination and about 30 boys and girls were found to be qualified to enter the high school.

The first class to be graduated consisted of three persons. Since that time 255 students have gone from the school, many of them are today holding positions of honor and trust. About 20 of the 80 students of the last six classes have attended institutions of higher learning.

About 1904 the high school was moved to the new frame building at the south end of town. This building is now doing barn duty on the farm of Mr. Hefflinger north of town.

After much discussion and a few bond issue attempts, a bond issue carried in 1914, for $35,000 and the present structure was erected in 1915. The building is shown on page four of this book. It is now housing the children formerly taken care of in the nine district schools, excepting those now going from the township to Grand Rapids and Malinta. Four grade teachers are now caring for the children, with the exceptions noted above, that nine teachers taught in the nine rural schools.

The second floor of the present building is used by the eight grades, there being four recitation rooms and a rest room.

The assembly, two recitation rooms, library and office are on the first floor. A basement room is used for manual training.

McClure corporation, according to the census man, lost two persons in the past 10 years; the population now is 431.

Damacus township had a population of 1,513 in 1920, while now it has a population of 1,357. Damascus township had a population of 489 in 1840.

The school district last year had a school population of about 290, while about 250 of this number were in school.

The valuation of the school district is $2,850,000.

"HURRICANE HAL"

The Senior class play is a three-act comedy-drama of present day college life. Nearly all the action of the play takes place at the Zeta house, which is a popular gathering place for the students.

Hurricane Hal (Doyle Good) is noted for falling in love with underclassmen girls; Dave Isaacs (Royce Steiger) is "Hal's" nearest friend; Lud Mason (Walter Weimer), a senior; Bud Watkins (Donald Shepard) is Lud's shadow; Junior Harvey (George Nelson), the song and dance man; Professor Shuman (Harold Rettig) is a fraternity brother and Don Kellogg (Russell McClure) is another brother of the fraternity.

The leading female parts are played by the Junior girls. A Junior boy, as well as some Freshman girls had to be borrowed to complete the cast.

THE BOYS

Has there any pretty blonde got mixed with the boys?
If there has, take her out without making a noise.
Hang the "Dynamo" on the catalogue spike!
Old Time's a liar; we're seven tonight.

We're seven! We're seven! Who says we are more?
She's tipsy, young jackanapes, show her the door!
Gray temples at twenty? Yes, white if we please
Where the snow-flakes fall thickest there nothing can freeze.

We've a trick, we young fellows, you may have been told.
Of smoking (in public) as if we were old;
That boy's the "Engineer", and the other we call "Doc".
(Please excuse us, we can't make this line rhyme).

That fellow's the "Cabinet Member", the one on the right;
"Mr. Broker", my young one, how are you tonight?
That's our "Financier", we say when we chaff;
There's the "Professor" what's his name? Don't make me laugh.

That boy with the curls, who thinks he's so strong
Made believe he had written a wonderful song.
And the Movie Theater Manager thought it was fine;
A good joke it was, too; for they fell for his line.

CLASS VOYAGE

In the fall of 1926 we, twenty raw recruits, mustered in at McClure High School to seek, knowledge, wisdom, and understanding to guide us on our voyage of life.

The good ship McClure High had not gone far on the voyage before it was found that the Freshmen class was necessary to the success of the undertaking. In taking our bearings we failed to find colors, motto, or flower; nevertheless, we elected officers as follows: Doyle Good, president; Royce Steiger, vice-president; Earlma Hartsing, secretary-treasurer.

After a few months of rest we came back a fairly seasoned crew and accomplished our duty of initiating the Freshmen. We placed two boys and a girl on the basketball teams. We were also represented in the orchestra. We carried the same crew of officers, but in taking our bearings could not sound deep enough to find colors or motto.

In the fall of 1928 we again found ourselves at the wharf, a sturdy seasoned crew. At the helm were: Donald Shepard, president; George Nelson, vice-president; Harold Rettig, secretary-treasurer. Five boys made the basketball teams. We sounded deep enough and brought up "Impossible is Un-American" for our class motto. The big event of the year was the Junior-Senior banquet. The remaining girl in the class decided to change captains and embarked on another vessel, Matrimony. Some others of the crew became seasick before the end of the year, and left us at the first port. A staunch little crew of six was ready to sail the unknown in the fall of 1929, but on embarking, the number was increased to seven by a new recruit from Milton Center.

And now as we disembark we entrust to our fellow voyagers, our beloved old craft, McClure High, hoping they will have blue skies, fair weather, and a safe voyage.

CLASS WILL

Be it known that we, the Senior Class, being of sound mind and good judgment, and realizing that our life in McClure High School is drawing to a close, do now on this first day of May, 1930, hereby execute, declare, and ordain this to be our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I

To the faculty we bequeath all of the trouble and joys of producing a class efficient to fill the vacancy left by us.

ARTICLE II

To the Junior class we bequeath our athletic ability.

To the Sophomores we bequeath our manner of disagreeing on all subjects.

To the Freshman class we will a book entitled, "How to Acquire Knowledge".

ARTICLE III

Item 1. I, Doyle Good, will my ability as a dancing master to Dawn Carlile.

Item 2. I, Harold Rettig, will my "strange power over women" to Merle Good.

Item 3. I, Donald Shepard, will my penmanship ability to Mildred Hockman.

Item 4. I, Walter H. Weimer, will my quiet and pleasing disposition to Ralph Conn.

Item 5. I, George Nelson, bequeath to Donald Smith, the book entitled "Love Procedure", hoping he will be benefitted by it in future attempts.

Item 6. I, Royce Steiger, will my devotion, love, and affection for the Junior girls to Franklin Adams.

Item 7. I, Russell McClure, will my ability to attract Freshmen girls to LeRoy Weimer.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

President . . . . . MERLE GOOD
Secretary-Treasurer . . . . . MILDRED HOCKMAN

Class Colors: Blue and Yellow
Motto: B What You R.
Class Flower: Yellow Rose

On a pleasant fall day, 1927, twenty students termed "Green Freshies" entered Mc H. S. Several of our members participated in various school activities. Two boys and one girl found places on the basketball teams.

In our Sophomore year our class was saddened by the death of Darwin Clark. Again we took part in various school activities. Three girls taking part in the Senior class play; two boys and three girls making the first basketball teams.

As Juniors we are maintaining the high record of the past two years, with thirteen in number. Our two boys and three girls were found to be essential to the basketball teams. We are looking forward to a great Junior-Senior banquet. We were called on to help with the Senior class play again this year. Here's hoping our numbers never grow less and we may show the magic of the number thirteen.

JUNIORS

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

We are the class with the varied history, even though our high school life has been short. As we entered the portals of learning as Freshmen we were met and shown to our seats by three, who were to introduce us to the mysteries of Freshmen, as they had had a year of training. Our number of nine girls and twelve boys was thus increased to twenty-four. Class officers were: Ralph Conn, president; Wilma Austermiller, vice-president; Dorcas McCurdy, secretary-treasurer.

Some of our number hitched their wagon to a star, but the tongue must have broken. When we met as Sophomores in 1929, to take our seats in the second row, only 14 were there. One of this number came to us from another school. Of those we lost, three went to other schools; some remained to show the new Freshmen around; others "completed" their school career. Officers for the year were: Ralph Conn, president; Norris Houser, vice-president; Dorcas McCurdy, secretary-treasurer.

We have a promising cornet player, five boy basketball players, three star girls basketball players. What more for our varied class next year?

SOPHOMORES

Dorcas McCurdy, Ralph Conn, Wayne Heiserman, Marie McClure, Norris Houser, Howard Harman, Edna Roach, Warren Rettig, Inez Miller, Roscoe Doll, Joe Harner, Velma Staub, Elmer Beals, Emery Williams.

FRESHMEN

FRESHMAN CLASS POEM

Here we are, the Freshmen gang;
Not very bright but we don't give a hang.
We started in last fall so green,
The dumbest Freshies ever seen.

We whispered and laughed the time away,
From nine until four day after day.
We thought, "What's the use to study all the time?
To be just a Freshie is not such a crime."

We all must be Freshmen before we are through;
We must not feel vain as the Sophomores do.
Next year we may learn a little more
And we'll each with pride be a Sophomore.

And we'll work very hard until we succeed;
Next year's Sophomores will sure take the lead.
They'll be first in baseball and basketball too;
Also in their studies we all shall find true.

Then to the Junior class we'll rise
And hold our glories to the skies.
From then to the Senior class we'll go
And learn almost all there is to know.

FERN AND DOROTHY.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

In September, 1929, twenty-four students entered McClure High School as Freshmen. We were heartily welcomed by last year's left over Freshmen. Howard Fitch from Grand Rapids came in the class in October, thus making the class enrollment of twenty-seven.

Shortly after school started, the greenies of the year before, now Sophomores, attempted to initate us and only succeeded with the help of the other classmen. To ally our humility the Sophmores gave us a party. We responded with a return party at the home of Lois Reimund.

Three of our girls made the basketball team. Two of our number are found in the orchestra. As we are now going, we predict great things even though three of our number recently quit school, having become sixteen years of age.

Austin Jennings is president; Evelyn Seekamp, vice-president; Wealthie Myers, secretary-treasurer.

Class motto, "Climb though the rocks be rugged."

Class colors, silver and crimson. Class flower, white rose.

TWENTY-THIRD PSALM FOR THE ALGEBRA CLASS

Mr. Potter is my teacher; I shall not pass.

He maketh me to work hard problems; and exposeth my ignorance to the class.

He bringeth forth my tears; he causeth me to learn axioms for my grade's sake.

Yea, though I study from nine to four, I catch not the drift; for problems and definitions bother me.

He prepareth hard lessons for me in the presence of my classmates; he flunketh me completely; mine eyes run over abundantly.

Surely I shall dwell in the algebra class forever and ever for I don't seem to be getting out very fast.

THE FRESHMAN'S PRAYER

"Now I lay me down to rest,
I studied hard to do my best;
If I should die before I wake
I won't have any exams to take."

WOULDN'T SEEM STRANGE

If Leslie was a Putnam instead of a Pittman;
If Flossie was a goatherd instead of a Shepard;
If Lena played pool instead of Bohling;
If George was Johnson instead of Nelson;
If Doyle was bad instead of Good;
If Donald was a cowboy instead of a Shepard;
If Donald was a carpenter instead of a Smith;
If Fern was a moth instead of a Miller;
If Morris was a mayor instead of a Counselman;
If Orville was a miner instead of a Weaver;
If Cinda was a setter instead of a Hatcher;
If Roscoe was a baby instead of a Doll;
If Ralph was a well-fly instead of a Sickmiller;
If Glenn was a weaver instead of a Potter;
If Inez was a bat instead of a Miller.

MEMORIAL BUILDING—THE SCHOOL'S GYMNASIUM

"Henry County Signal" echoes of the basketball tournament:

"Signal" All-County basket ball teams:—Honorable mention, boys—M. Good, McClure; girls—R. Hockman, McClure.

Highpointers: M. Good, of the McClure quintet, scored 16 points, being fourth high scorer.

Holgate (boys) fell before the onslaught of McClure, 27 to 17.

Those tying for second place in the girls' foul shooting contest, with 20 out of 30 shots, included Miss R. Hockman of McClure.

"Northwest-News" (Henry County) clippings:

"Northwest" All-Tournament Teams:—Boys, D. Good, of McClure, draws the other guard position to round out the team. He has the size, is a good shot and a strong defensive player.

Honorable mention:—Girls, McCurdy, center, McClure; Bohling, guard, McClure. (Ed. Annual, note: Bohling did not play. So this must have been Seekamp or Shepard).

McClure 27, Holgate 17 (boys). Holgate put up a spirited battle the last half after being hopelessly defeated the first half. McClure led 21 to 4 at the half-way mark.

Malinta 39, McClure 21 (girls). Malinta took a big lead at the start of the game and was leading 25 to 12 at the half.

Semi-finals, boys: Hamler 23, McClure 17. Hamler took an early lead to win a rough and tumble game from McClure by the score of 23 to 17. Hamler led 13 to 7 at the half-way mark. Many fouls were called and several boys were sent to the bench with too many personals. McClure was the hardest hit. Conn played well for McClure.

WE ARE SEVEN

Insert: Back row, first boy, Royce Steiger; last boy in the row, Doyle Good; middle row, second boy, Harold Rettig.

Row seated: Last boy in the row, George Nelson, and next to him is Donald Shepard. Mr. Lawrence Doren was teacher. This was when the SENIORS were in the eighth grade.

A class of Seven Boys are they, like Leo's Constellation,
Whose seven stars are guiding lights to every tribe and nation.
These seven sons of man go forth with strength of education
To fill the deserts of the brain with mental decoration.
They're not the Seven Sears of earth in constant agitation;
They're not the Seven Vials of wrath that wither all creation.
They're Seven Joys; they're Seven Hopes for all within our nation.
They're Seven Sons of sterling worth; they'll fill a lofty station.

"I don't like your heart action," said Doctor Ruder. "You've had some trouble with Angina Pectoris."
"You're partly right," said Russell, "only that isn't her name."

Time: Senior accident during sleet storm when all were spilled out. Shep, badly frightened, to George: "George, write to Flossie and tell her I loved her to the last; and please send carbon copies to Margaret, Wealthie and Evelyn."

Doyle was worried and his pal said: "Tell me about it. Get it off your chest."
"Wish I could," said Doyle, "I've got Lena tatooed there and now I am engaged to Frances."

Miss Davis arrived early at the Potter home one morning. Mr. Potter apparently was getting his own breakfast and was holding three eggs in his hand and was boiling his watch.

ORCHESTRA

Standing: Orville Weaver, Mr. Middleton, Ernest Anderson.
Seated: Merle Good, Ralph Conn, Emery Williams, Lois Reimund, Dorothy Kolby, Marie McClure. Miss Ebersole, the music director of the schools, is not in the picture. Marie McClure dropped the orchestra.

The orchestra has been a part of the school activities for the past seven years. The Farmers Elevator meeting would not be complete without the group. The spirit of music is not as strong in the schools as it should be. Indications are for a bigger and better orchestra next year.

Norris: "There'll be a lot of unhappy girls when I get married."
Wayne: "How many are you going to marry?"

Mr. Hagedorn: "What do you intend to be when you graduate?"
Leslie: "An old man."

Wealthie to the shoe clerk: "I tell you, I wear a number two."
Clerk: "But this old shoe is marked number four.' '
Wealthie: "Yes, I know, but it has stretched terribly."

Helen (Mrs. Rudolph): "And do you think Irven will love me more than ever, now that we are married?"
Ruth (Miss Edwards): "I think so, I hear he is just crazy about married women."

"Poor old Fitch!" exclaimed Dawn to Austin. "He is so short-sighted he's studying himself to death!"
Austin: "What has his short sight got to do with it?"
Dawn: "Why he can't see when the teachers aren't looking, so he has to keep on studying all the time."

A Freshman's reply to the question if he should study on the Sabbath: If a man is justified in helping the ass out of the pit on Sunday, how much more justified the ass would be in helping himself out.

Names of drivers: Dura Reimund, substitute for Ernest Reimund; Chas. Harmon; Wyatt Roemaker, Sherm Dielman; Fred Hale, substitute for Dale Fisser; Carl Rowland.

The six busses are privately owned, and transport 145 pupils. They travel 110 miles a day, and the school board pays $25 for this service. Some of the patrons wonder at this cost; do you know that seven teachers are now doing the teaching that formerly was done by twelve, when the township maintained its one-room schools?

Mr. Silvius: "You say the inscription on the ring is to be Norris to Marie?"

Norris: "Yes, that's right, but—a—don't cut Marie very deep."

Lois Reimond (translating Caesar): "Rex fugit. The king has fleas."

Mr. Eberwine: "And why do you call me Pilgrim?"

Miss Edwards, looking at her ring: "Why, every time you call you make a little progress."

Mr. Middleton had found Harley Smith exceedingly slow in writing compositions. In desperation he asked him to write a story on a baseball game and to have it ready in the evening. This was Harley's story: "Rain; no game."

Buzz to Charles Dieman: "Howja spell 'sense'?"

Charles: " 'Like dollars and cents' or 'like horse sense'?"

Buss: "No, like in 'I ain't seen her sense—' "

Clerk: "And the tie for the little boy, madam; would you like a long one?"

Mrs. Erven: "Yes, very long; Robert grows out of things so quickly."

Life is like a deck of cards;
When you are in love it is hearts;
When you are engaged it's diamonds;
When you are married it's clubs;
And when you are buried it's spades.
